JANUARY 2012

Partners,

Happy New Year! We hope 2011 was a great year for you! God certainly did a lot in the hearts of many UNM college students this last year. We look forward to a great 2012 and the new semester is just around the corner. Classes start back up on January 18th, so please be praying for us and for the campus. Many times the spring semester is a great "harvest" time as a result of sowing the Word into students' hearts over the course of the fall semester! We hope to be sharing many new testimonies with you over these next few months.
